Cremation Packages and Prices

Cremation is chosen by just over fifty percent of families in South Florida as the most common form of disposition. This percentage of cremations to deaths in the United States will increase dramatically during the next decade. Some people are surprised to learn that cremation does not preclude a funeral with all the traditional aspects of the ceremony. Visitation or viewing with a funeral ceremony and church or memorial services are options to be considered. Cremation is selected for many reasons ranging from religious beliefs or ethnic customs to cost. Most families electing cremation are believed to do so simply because of personal preference. Florida Statutes specify who can authorize cremation.

FS 497.005 Definitions. (37) "Legally authorized person" means, in the priority listed, the decedent, when written inter vivos authorizations and directions are provided by the decedent; the surviving spouse, unless the spouse has been arrested for committing against the deceased an act of domestic violence as defined in s. 741.28 that resulted in or contributed to the death of the deceased; a son or daughter who is 18 years of age or older; a parent; a brother or sister who is 18 years of age or older; a grandchild who is 18 years of age or older; a grandparent; or any person in the next degree of kinship. In addition, the term may include, if no family member exists or is available, the guardian of the dead person at the time of death; the personal representative of the deceased; the attorney in fact of the dead person at the time of death; the health surrogate of the dead person at the time of death; a public health officer; the medical examiner, county commission, or administrator acting under part II of chapter 406 or other public administrator; a representative of a nursing home or other health care institution in charge of final disposition; or a friend or other person not listed in this subsection who is willing to assume the responsibility as the legally authorized person. Where there is a person in any priority class listed in this subsection, the funeral establishment shall rely upon the authorization of any one legally authorized person of that class if that person represents that she or he is not aware of any objection to the cremation of the deceased's human remains by others in the same class of the person making the representation or of any person in a higher priority class.

There are a variety of options for the final disposition of cremated remains. Urns or other containers may be placed in a niche at a columbarium, a structure or room designed to contain cremated remains. Families may elect to bury the urn in a family plot or cemetery. Or the urn may be kept in another place of personal significance, such as the home. Subject to some restrictions, cremated remains can be scattered by air, over the ground or over water.

There are many ways to celebrate a life lived. We are able to assist in making the appropriate choice for your loved one, partner or friend. As a full service funeral provider, we can provide dignity and affordability to you in this difficult time. Feel free to contact us with your questions at any time.

We are available by appointment 24 hours a day.

About Certified Copies of Death Certificates

Most business and or legal matters require a certified copy of the death certificate. We will secure certified copies of the Death Certificate for you. Please be aware that this does not happen immediately after death.

YOUR ATTORNEY OR ACCOUNTANT SHOULD BE ABLE TO ASSIST YOU IN DETERMINING THE CORRECT NUMBER OF CERTIFICATES TO ORDER.

You should check with individual companies, banks etc to determine if they will require an original or a photocopy of the original death certificate.

Certified Copies of Death certificates can be made WITH or WITHOUT cause of death. Under Florida Law, (FS 382.008, FS 382.025) the cause of death is CONFIDENTIAL for 50 years. Cause of death MUST NOT BE INCLUDED when requesting copies for probate issues, real estate taxes, vehicle title transfers or banks. Only Life insurance companies or VA Benefits REQUIRE CAUSE OF DEATH to be on the certified copies.

Who is authorized to obtain cause of death?

Pursuant to Florida Law (FS 382.008, FS 382.025), the decedents spouse or parent, child, grandchild or sibling if of legal age, or to any family member who provides a will, insurance policy or other document that demonstrates the family member's interest in the estate of the decedent, or to any person who provides documentation that he/she is acting on behalf of any of the family member's.

How long does it take to get death certificates?

We must complete the death certificate and obtain the doctor's signature. This process will not even begin until the first business day following the death. Should the death occur on a weekend, no processing of the death certificate happens until at least Monday, as doctors' offices do not open on the weekends.

After we complete the death certificate we present it to the doctor. We do not wait for him to sign it. Very rarely does a doctor sign the death certificate immediately when we arrive. Under Florida law, the doctor has 72 hours in which to complete his portion of the death certificate.

When the doctor has completed the medical portion of the death certificate, his/her office notifies us that it is complete and available for pickup or is mailed back to our office. Once it arrives in our office, we then fax the information to the medical examiner for cremation approval. Once approval is obtained, we can then legally perform the cremation and file the death certificate with the county health department and order any certified copies. Once we file the death certificate with the county health department, it takes, at least 5 business days plus mailing time (excluding holidays), unless you pay the $10.00 expedite fee for the order and $35.00 Courier Service fee, to obtain the official certified copies. Considering this, please allow seven (7) to ten (10) business days for the death certificates to be in your possession. Note: Expedited Service included in full service burial and cremation packages!

We at Brooks Cremation and Funeral Service strive to provide you the best possible service, at an affordable price.
